How much will you have to pay?

The monthly premium payable for your insurance policy depends on the mobile device covered by the policy. See the highlighted section of the table below which shows the premium payable per month (including Insurance Premium Tax) for the cover provided by your policy. This amount will also be shown in your certificate of insurance which will be sent to you with your welcome pack.

We will collect the premium from you on a monthly basis via Direct Debit on the date specified on your certificate of insurance. Your insurance payment will appear as a separate Direct Debit with the title 'Mobile Insurance' or 'Homecare Ins' on your bank statement.

If you fail to pay your premiums on the date specified on the certificate of insurance, the cover will be suspended automatically and with immediate effect. If, following suspension of the cover due to non-payment of your premiums, you subsequently make payment of your outstanding premiums within the time specified by us to you, the cover will be reinstated. You are entitled to make a claim under the policy during the time that your cover is suspended for non-payment of your premiums provided that you pay any outstanding premiums at the time you make a claim. If any outstanding premiums are not paid within the time specified by us to you following suspension of the cover, we reserve the right to cancel your policy on notice to you and the mobile device will no longer be insured.

You may have to pay other taxes or costs that are not paid or imposed by us.

Excess

The excess is the amount of a claim which we will not pay. For details of the excess which applies to your policy, please see the highlighted section of the table below, and the details contained in your certificate of insurance.

The amount of excess payable by you depends on when and how often you make a claim. If you are required to pay an increased excess for your first claim, we will refund you the amount of any increased excess above the standard excess amount if you continue to hold your policy and have not made another successful claim at the end of the 12 month period following your policy start date which will be shown in your certificate of insurance.
